How to Clean Roman Shades

Roman shades are one of the most versatile window coverings. The shades can be made in a variety of fabric to complement any decor. Roman shades are also easy to clean with just a few household items.

Things You Will Need:

- Vacuum brush
- Clean Soft Rags

Vacuum the shades to remove loose dirt and dust. Use your vacuum's upholstery attachment for the surface, and the crevice attachment to get into the folds. Vacuuming regularly will extend the life of your shades.

Spot clean your roman shades by wiping the shades with a soft sponge dipped in warm water. Dab or rub the shades carefully, as harsh rubbing may damage the material or fade the color.

Add a drop or two of mild dish soap (never use any harsh detergent or spray cleaner) to the warm water to remove stubborn stains, but test the soap solution on an inconspicuous area first. Don't clean your Roman Shades with soap if the color runs.

Always use care when cleaning any window covering product. Damage, stains or discoloration to cords, chain, ladder, slats, tubes, fascia/valance, headrail, tilt rod, hardware or any part of the window covering resulting from regular maintenance, cleaning or operation will not be covered under the manufacturer's warranty.
